a fatal epidemic, which is made the diagnosis after hold-

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)

WASHINGTON, May 13.—Tampico, the Mexican east coast seaport second in importance only to Vera Cruz, was stormed and captured by the Constitutionalists today. The Federal garrison of several thousand men, after withstanding a three-day bombardment, were driven out of the city and were reported to have retreated by rail toward San Luis Potosi, hoping to effect a junction with a line reaching into Mexico City. Constitutionalists at Juarez, however, said that this road was held by their troops under Gen. Eulalio Gutierrez; that they also held the railroad to Monterey, and that the Federal forces' only retreat lay in an overland march across swamp lands.

French ordnance captured by Gen. Francisco Villa at Torreon is believed to have made possible the speedy taking of Tampico. Gen. Pablo Gonzalez, commanding the Constitutionalists there, began a heavy bombardment May 10, and kept it up until late yesterday, according to advices received by the Navy Department from Rear-Admiral Charles J. Badger, who in turn received them from Rear-Admiral Henry T. Mayo, of Tampico. At midnight last night the commanding force was resumed, and it continued until the Constitutionalists fought their way clear into the plaza at Tampico, shortly after noon today. The capture of the French shipyard did in a few days for Gonzalez what Villa, with his home-made bombs, was unable to accomplish in weeks before Torreon.

Advices at the Navy Department were that the Federalists fought every inch of the way before giving up the city, but it is considered possible that some of the fighting may have been in the nature of a rear guard action, holding the Constitutionalists at bay while the garrison retreated.

When the city was captured, the Federal gunboats Bravo and Zaragoza, which had sailed the day before, were held by the Constitutionalists. The Federalists' leaders were captured and taken to the city. The Federalists' leaders were captured and taken to the city.

GEN. MAAS REMOVED,
REPLACED BY PENA.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)
WASHINGTON, May 13.—News reached Washington through official sources tonight that Gen. Garcia Pena, one of the highest ranking officers in the Mexican Federal army, had taken command of the forces outside Vera Cruz, superseding Gen. Maas.

This news caused all manner of speculation around the State, War and Navy departments. Some officials were inclined to attach special significance to the move, seeing in it evidence of Huerta's intention to strengthen his position around the great port occupied by Americans and possibly to assume an offensive attitude. On the other hand, it was suggested that Gen. Maas's conduct had displeased the dictator and that his removal probably had nothing whatever to do with the international situation.

Those who took the less optimistic view thought that the fall of Tampico today might have had the effect of making Huerta desperate and leading him to take some step that might force the hand of the United States without awaiting the outcome of the pending mediation negotiations.

In this connection it was suggested that the force given out of Tampico might undertake to march through the mountains and effect a junction with the army between Mexico City and Vera Cruz. Some of those most familiar with the situation, however, thought this improbable, as the railroad toward San Luis Potosi, over which the Federalists fled from Tampico, is in operation for only about thirty miles, the journey on foot would be impracticable.

REBELS EXPECT TO IMPORT ARMS.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)
EL PASO (Tex.) May 13.—The capture of Tampico by Gen. Pablo Gonzalez, reported today, will eliminate any possibility of complications with foreign nations and will mean the opening of commercial and industrial pursuits throughout the interior of Mexico, according to a statement tonight by Roberto V. Pequeira, confidential representative of Gen. Carranza.

The tenseness of the international situation, he said, had been relieved because the entry of Gonzalez's troops into Tampico would give absolute assurance of protection for the oil wells and all other property, no matter by whom owned, and would obviate any friction or necessity for action by foreign nations.

The capture of Tampico, Mr. Pequeira said, not only gave the Constitutionalists absolute control of Northern Mexico and by its railroad connections assured prompt and efficient troop movements, but also as a free port of entry gave connection to the markets of the world with the centers of business in the interior. Strong pressure has been brought to bear on the committee, composed of

(BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF
THE TIMES, May 13.—Harry L.
Wright, cashier of the University of California at Berkeley, has been found to be at least $10,000 short in his accounts.

It was stated tonight by Ralph F. Merritt, comptroller of the University, that Wright has confessed and is now engaged in trying to make restitution to the State.

Real estate investments are ascribed by Merritt as the reason for the downfall of Wright, who for sixteen years had been a trusted employee of the university.

The shortage in Wright's accounts was discovered last Monday and the matter at once was reported to the Finance Committee of the board of regents of the university. Since that time Wright has resided at his home, No. 439 Sixty-fifth street, Oakland, with his wife and has been making frantic efforts to satisfy the demands made upon him for restitution of the public funds.

Experts are now engaged in the work of tracing the pecuniary charges against Wright. It is said by Comptroller Merritt that the thefts have been going on for several years, and that Wright had so skillfully manipulated his books that it had been found most difficult to separate and identify the different items of theft.

"So far as we have been able to ascertain," said Merritt last night, "Wright concealed his thefts by delaying the deposit of university funds. Amounts of money that were due to be deposited by him in the Berkeley National Bank, in transit to Treasurer I. W. Hellman of the university, were withheld and devoted by Wright to his own uses."

Last Tuesday, soon after the report of Wright's shortage had been communicated to the University authorities, the Finance Committee of the board of regents held a special meeting and afterward the matter was laid before the board in executive session.

During the investigation into Wright's accounts, it is said, it has been discovered that the system of accounting was woefully lax and to some extent, at least, gave Wright opportunity to divert public funds to his own uses without discovery. It also is said that there is a possibility that the further investigation of the matter may disclose that some outsider assisted Wright to cover up the evidences of his operations.

CHEYENNE (Wyo.) May 13.—Frank E. Runcorn of San Diego, Cal., who won $11,428 from Mrs. Verna M. George of Cheyenne because she didn't marry him, possesses an unusual memory. That he had so carefully kept a ledger of every letter, telegram and termination of letter after letter, and the pretty defendant.

Attorney W. D. MacDougall, chief counsel for Runcorn, interrogated the "California convention" boys, and written on certain dates a year or more ago. Runcorn recited the contents of each letter.

Posted conspicuously in the courtroom where Judge W. C. Mentzer and spectators beyond the bar might observe them with equal facility, were two large posters, one enumerating the gifts of Runcorn to the widow and the other relating the reasons why she had promised to marry him.

"I will marry you—if you are single. If you love me greatly. If you are a man of great wealth. If I get a divorce. If you will buy me a cottage in San Diego. If you will buy me a moving picture show. If you are an arbitrator. If you are not a drinking man. If your general character is good."

LONDON, May 13.—The most spectacular woman in England and America is to be sought by the British and American Peace Centenary Ball, to be held in Albert Hall, June 16, will appear respectively as Britannia and Columbia as chief representatives of the two countries.

The capture of Manatlan on the Pacific Coast was expected within a few days, said Mr. Pequeira, and with a port of entry on each coast the Constitutionalists would have undisputed possession of more than half of Mexico.

The effect of the taking of Tampico by the Constitutionalists upon the importation of arms and ammunition to the Constitutionalists will be watched closely by inhabitants of the border, who regard the situation as of extreme importance.

Gen. Villa himself has stated that the replacing of the embargo on arms has been a serious check upon the plans of the Constitutionalists against Huerta, and while Constitutionalists of officials have stated repeatedly that they were provided with ample ammunition for the campaign in prospect, it is asserted that strong efforts have been made to have the embargo lifted.

The number of men Gen. Villa can place in the field is limited only by the number of rifles and amount of ammunition on hand to equip them.

MEXICO CITY NEAR FAMINE

Soldiers Suppress Outbreak at Point of Bayonet.
Majority of the Populace is Demoralized State.

Even the Wealthy Have Hard Time to Obtain Food.

BY GEORGE ADDISON HUGHES.
[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE REPORT.]
MEXICO CITY, May 13.—The specter of famine is threatening Mexico City, and the populace is in a demoralized state. Demonstrations against Huerta are frequent, but the capital and the suburbs, but in each instance of an outbreak soldiers suppress the demonstrators at the point of bayonet. Many people have been imprisoned into police stations placed on guard to suppress outbreaks in the outlying sections.

Refugees arriving here declare that the agricultural district around Mexico City is in a state of waste. Many of these refugees who took a chance and left Mexico City without authority, arrived here in a state of terror. They declare there is but a handful of Americans and other foreigners in the capital, and that they would be surprised to hear of Huerta's assassination at any time. One reason the foreigners still remain in the capital is because there is no money for their leaving. Huerta will not permit any party of less than 500 to go by train.

The scenes in the streets are alarming according to those who have seen them. Some of the middle class who lost everything in the past few months are found crying in the huddled in doorways and on the excluded places. The only food they have had for days is that secured from the refuse of the gutter.

Once a day the "dead end" guarded by soldiers, went through the streets, pick up all the refuse and haul them to the outskirts. For weeks, funeral pyres have been burning.

Burros and dog flesh, captured from starving packs or herds, is the only food for thousands of the poor. Many Mexican families who left for Mexico City following the American occupation. Many of these are turning as fast as they are possible to leave.

Refugees who arrived today reported five more prominent families in the recent anti-Huerta demonstrations in the capital. They declare that members of the Torre family of mathematicians and relatives of former President Porfirio Diaz; the Gonzales family of Quindaro, and the family of the head of which was formerly the minister of Foreign Affairs, General Chihuahua, and very wealthy; the Mendez Amandares family and the family all took leading part in the anti-Huerta movement.

The refugees declare that while some of the rioters were poor, many of them were discredited Americans, such as Enrique, Jr., and son of Alberto Bransford, who was killed by Huerta, son of the President plotting the uprisings.

AFTER FRUIT FOR MATCHES.
Admiral's Filipino servant, arrested by Mexican troops, was found to have been placed under arrest in a Mexican line, according to a report which reached headquarters here. When the servant deserted, he was believed he had been killed. He is, however, reported to have been captured by Mexican troops in order to get the goods for the admiral's matches.

HUERTA VICTORY CELEBRATED.
THOUSANDS IN DEMONSTRATION.

ON TO SALTILLO, REBEL DEMAND.

SPEDDY ADVANCE AND END OF THE WAR DESIRED BY ALL CONSTITUTIONALISTS.
TORREON (Mex.) May 13.—"On to Saltillo, San Luis Potosi and Mexico City," is the constant cry heard everywhere. In the streets, plazas, government offices and stores, the speedy advance is the thing they talk of. A note of impatience runs through the conversation and inquiry often brings the statement that Mexico is tired of war, an expression of regret that the United States replaced the embargo on arms.

In the past much ammunition has been taken from the Federals and the Villa soldiers are confident they can repeat the success of their first campaign. Ammunition is being concentrated here and at Monterrey and the available food supplies are ample. The question of transporting the wounded has received special attention and many vehicles have been remodeled for medical supplies have arrived and the staff of physicians has been increased from 150 to 200.

The horses are being given as much care as the men. Villa has learned the lesson of the Federal army and the possible being given mounts. The greater mobility of such troops over the Federal army is indeed as a most important factor in the campaign.

When the Villa troops are moved by rail only the number of horses to be transported is considered. As a rule, from thirty to thirty-six horses are carried in a car, and when they have been loaded, their riders scramble to the roof and the train pulls out. If the journey is made at night, the men sleep in blissful disregard of the danger of rolling from the roof.

There is little the Constitutionalists worry about at present. Even guard mounts are few and far between. The soldiers have their own food. The soldiers have their own food. The soldiers have their own food.

NEW PROBLEMS AT TAMPICO.

CESSATION OF FIGHTING DOES NOT SOLVE THE MEXICAN SITUATION.

(BY MEXICAN CABLE AND A. P.)
VERA CRUZ, May 13.—The fall of Tampico and what it may mean is the subject of general speculation here. It is learned that the Constitutionalists delivered a determined attack on the port, beginning at 4 o'clock this morning. The Federal advanced posts were driven in and until noon desperate firing was continued. A general exodus began when the news spread that the rebels were preparing for final assault. Many refugees from Tampico passed through here, but few were allowed ashore as the American authorities were not willing to increase the large colony already overcrowding the island. With the under the American hostilities on the Gulf coast of Mexico will come to an end, at least for a time.

The Federalists are maintaining the armistice so far as the Americans are concerned, according to a note from Gen. Ruben Navarrete, published here today. Nowhere else along the coast line, except at Tampico, are there more than scattered units of Federal or Constitutionalists and the logical movement of the victors from Tampico would be to join forces with those besieging San Luis Potosi.

South of Tampico the nearest Federal forces, those on the Mexican railroad, are holding outposts against a possible American advance. The country between Tampico and Vera Cruz, and inland to the line of the Mexican National Railroad is barren and mountainous and impossible for military operations. There is no railroad or other means for the Constitutionalists to move against the Federalists at Paso del Macho, nor would they gain great advantage by driving them back toward the capital.

The Constitutionalists first attacked Tampico last December, and fighting has been virtually continuous since. Twice they drove the Federal garrison into the town and seemed on the verge of victory, only to be shelved by the gunboats and forced to retire.

The last reports of the Federal forces at Tampico indicated less than 2000, but they were well supplied with ammunition and artillery. Only the presence of the American gunboats saved the city repeatedly.

There is much discussion here as to the possible relations between this port under American control and the Federalists. The American line, Vera Cruz depends largely on the Tampico region for fruit and other food supplies and merchants here foresee brisk business if the Constitutionalists open the port to trade.

It is certain that the American authorities would not permit the resumption of peaceful trading by every possible means.

GEN. NAVARRETE GIVEN COMMAND.

(BY MEXICAN CABLE AND A. P.)
VERA CRUZ, May 13.—President Huerta, according to a report current here, has placed Gen. Ruben Navarrete in command of the forces in front of Vera Cruz, with headquarters at Cordoba. It is believed that Gen. Huerta has called Gen. Maas to the capital to utilize him in the line of defense against the northern Constitutionalists.

Gen. Navarrete is an officer in whom Huerta always placed great confidence and is regarded as the best artillery officer in the Mexican army. Placing him in charge of Gen. Maas's command may have been due in part to the report of Gen. Maas at Vera Cruz when the American forces landed. Gen. Maas left the city early in the fighting without calling out all his troops. For this he was severely criticized by President Huerta.

Before taking command Gen. Navarrete was in charge of the work of establishing the line of Mexican outposts and two days after the fighting in Vera Cruz he traveled about the coast gathering all the information possible. His men are not concentrated in sufficient numbers to arouse any fear of attack and reports from Cordoba do not indicate that he had received any great support from the capital.

Meanwhile it is known that his intelligence department is working within the American lines to obtain such information as it can.

The Americans have made little effort to stop these activities, as there appears to be little information here that the Mexicans might not as well have.

Another 100 foreigners, mostly Americans, will arrive tomorrow from Mexico City, according to reports received at the consulate. Among the refugees now here are Mrs. Pilar Hernandez de Gonzalez Salas and Miss Maria Luisa Hernandez, two nieces of the late Francisco Madero and sisters of Rafael Hernandez, who was Minister of the Interior in Madero's Cabinet. They expect to sail tomorrow for the United States.

A large quantity of permanent equipment and stores arrived here today.

He is Prof. Alfred Wilson.

VERA CRUZ GRAFT SCANDAL.

Army Officers Have Uncovered an Attempted Swindle Involving Conspiracy Against Tuxpam Millionaire.

(BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE-EX-CLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
VERA CRUZ, May 13.—Army officers have uncovered a graft scandal and an attempted swindle. Two Mexican secret service men, Florencio Moreno and Candido Bandini, were arrested charged with extortion. They collected thousands in the Distrito de Putas and the gambling district. The higher-ups are sought. Five hundred thousand pesos are involved in a conspiracy against Jacinto, the Tuxpam millionaire oil man. Villanueva and Ricardo Garcia were arrested with 3000 pesos in marked money on them. They threatened Jacinto's life unless he paid a half-million. The arrest followed payment of the first installment.

Foreign Trade Convention.
H. Woodland Gates and Walter M. Campbell were named yesterday by President Cole of the Chamber of Commerce to represent the body at the national foreign trade convention in Washington, D. C., the 17th and 18th insts. Secretary of Commerce Redfield is to deliver the opening address of the convention and Capt. Robert Dollar, head of the steamship company of the same name, will speak on the subject of "The Pacific Coast."

Portland's Rose Queen Coming.
The Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association received a communication yesterday from C. C. Colt, president of the Rose Festival Association of Portland announcing that the queen of the festival, eleven maids of honor, a chaperon, business manager and two attendants will arrive in Los Angeles June 5, on a tour of the Coast cities. "It is not presuming too much upon your hospitality," Colt suggested, "we hope that you will entertain the young queen and her appropriate manner." The communication will be turned over to the Chamber of Commerce, the organization which usually acts as host to the city's visitors.

Traffic Manager Pontius of the Pacific Electric announced yesterday that the company will offer special 25-cent round-trip rates to the beach resorts each Thursday during the summer months. During June the special rates will be effective from 18th to Venice, Ocean Park, Playa del Rey, Redondo Beach, Hermosa Beach and Manhattan Beach, and on the 11th and 25th to Long Beach, San Pedro, Alamitos Bay, Seal Beach and Anaheim Landing. As usual, tickets will not be sold by conductors but must either be purchased at the regular ticket office or of special agents stationed at either Burlington street and Arlington avenue on the Venice Shore Line or Seventh street and Central avenue on the Long Beach line.

John P. St. John, twice Governor of Kansas and once a candidate for the Presidency of the United States, will speak at the Long Beach Forum at 3 o'clock next Sunday afternoon under the auspices of the California "Dry" Federation. His announced subject is "The Truth About Kansas." St. John is past 60 and has been living in effigy more frequently, probably, than any one else who ever lived—this on account of his views touching on little brown jugs and such. He is delivering a series of fifty prohibition lectures in California in the interests of the "1914 dry" campaign. The county body will meet at the Nazareth Church, Sixth and Wall streets, this city, at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon to perfect its organization, and will go thence to the beach.

EXTENDING LINE TO NEW ORLEANS.

SANTA FE TO HAVE ITS OWN
RAILS TO GULF CITY.

Expected to Establish Through Freight and Passenger Service Within Fifteen Months—Work to Bridge Gap in Road to Be Started at Once.

The Santa Fe is to enter New Orleans. It is even possible that through freight and passenger service will be established between the Crescent City and California points by the summer of 1915.

The Santa Fe now maintains through freight service between Galveston and Los Angeles and San Francisco over its own rails. It also has branch-line service from Somerville on the Galveston line to Oakdale, La., within 140 miles of New Orleans as the crow flies. This branch line is to be extended to a crossing of the Mississippi River at a point not yet designated.

"It is certain that the gap from Oakdale to New Orleans will be bridged," said W. H. Brewer, assistant to General Manager Wells of the Santa Fe, yesterday. "I am not authoritatively informed, however, as to when work will begin."

The Santa Fe's activities in the Gulf Coast States have been among the wonders of railroading the past two or three years. A subsidiary company, the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe Railway, was organized as a necessary preliminary to the work, due to the drastic railroad laws of Texas. Thence by a process of assimilation of small holding companies and persistent construction work the Santa Fe began to make its might felt in Oklahoma and Texas.

Before long the Santa Fe had one continuous stretch of its own rails from Florence, Kan., on the mother line, to Galveston. From this antenae branches were sent out until the "Pioneer-Galveston" line began to look like the trunk of a many-limbed tree. Still the building continued, until, by a joining of branches, the Santa Fe became possessed of a roundabout line connecting Galveston with California.

Early this year the Galveston-California line was made a through line by the completion of the famous Texaco cut-off. Immediately thereafter freight service was established between Galveston and Los Angeles. The bridging line from Oakdale, La., to New Orleans is the next and logical step in the Santa Fe's campaign of conquest.

The indications are that the Santa Fe has even larger plans under consideration. It is intimated that in addition to the work from Oakdale eastward a new cut-off will be constructed from Slaton to Ft. Worth. Slaton is a thriving town on what was known in days gone by as the Staked Plains. This cut-off will be 225 miles in length, and in addition to opening up a virgin country will bring the whole of Middle Texas fifty to seventy-five miles closer to California than it is by existing lines. There also is a possibility that this cut-off will eventually be linked into the California-New Orleans line, in which case the Santa Fe will have the shortest line between New Orleans and Los Angeles and San Francisco.

VENT THEIR SPIRIT.
Two bandits took it as a personal insult when they stopped H. Snow of No. 704 East Ninth street, yesterday, and demanded his valuables. He was walking alone on Los Angeles street, near Seventh, when the assault occurred. After having searched the man, they rebuked him most profusely for having no money or jewelry, told him he was a "four-flusher," and then kicked and beat him, and threatened him with death if he spread the alarm.

 Many a woman looks at a man with her soul in her eyes when she's only thinking about her corns.

ODORIFEROUS.
 "Mr. Aladdin" may have been intended as a refinement on the white slave play, but it has no sweeter smell.

PROVIDENCE AND BRAINS.
 Most people act as if they completely misinterpreted the plan of Providence in furnishing them with brains. They are satisfied to stand as jokes on the Almighty.

REGRETS.
 After a man is too old to do anything about it he can't help but wish that he had known himself when he was a boy. He can look back and see what good material he had to work on.

WOMAN DENTISTS.
 There is said to be a demand in London for woman dentists. It is likely to grow rather than abate. The fees for training and license amount to $500, and it takes about four years to become qualified. Think, too, of the suffering endured by a woman dentist who is compelled by the discipline of the profession to keep her own mouth closed, while that of her patient is open.

SATISFACTORY.
 North Carolina's plan to raise money by private subscriptions for its State building at the San Francisco exposition is as good as having the money set aside by its Legislature. An affair like this in the hands of a few earnest persons is certain to be directed with ability and enthusiasm. Men who take up a work like this have the good of their State at heart and they are not petty grafters.

DANGEROUS SPY.
 Some sensation is felt because the Filipino servant of Rear-Admiral Fletcher deserted and joined the Mexicans. The officers are afraid he took away valuable secrets. Very likely he will betray to the Mexicans the exact location of Vera Cruz with a chart showing the steps of the Vera Cruz customhouse where Gen. Funston is often standing, together with a map of Woodrow Wilson's face and a copy of his intentions of granting free tolls to the ships of Great Britain.

THE YUMA FIRE.
 News of the loss at Yuma of three lives in a night blaze which destroyed its best residence hotel is regrettable information. In a small city where everybody knows everybody else, death by accident always creates a profound impression. One life lost was that of one of the little city's most competent school teachers. The building itself was large and constructed on a delightful plan. The town still has two excellent commercial hotels. The deaths were due to the fact that the fire occurred at 1 o'clock in the morning and was not discovered until it had made dangerous headway.

TAKING A DARE.
 Every now and then a divorce suit is filed in a case where the young people married on a dare or a wager at a late cafe supper. Sometimes this happens on a first meeting. It has to come up about like that for if they had seen each other twice when perfectly sober it never would happen. This light way of committing oneself to a long course of action in a minute of playfulness is patently foolhardy and expensive. Persons who are not wedded in heart and mind will not find themselves united by any ceremony of church or state. Marriage sanctions union, but does not bring it about and it cannot make permanent a relation that does not exist. If somebody dares you to marry on an impulse, be wise and dare to refuse. The fool hath said in his heart, there is no love. Jumping into things when there is no call to jump is a mighty bad habit to fall into. Sooner or later people who do this fall into something they never can fall out of.

WASTED IN PRINTING.
 A House of Representatives committee has awakened to the fact that the government wastes about one million dollars annually printing useless documents and in material. A report filed by Representative Barnhart says there are approximately 1000 tons of useless printed documents in government establishments and storerooms in Washington, and that within the last six years more than 6,000,000 uncalled-for volumes have been printed at an enormous expense.

By curtailing the "leave to print" privilege under which Congressional "orators" extend their remarks in The Record, "more than $100,000 per annum can be saved." Representative Barnhart's committee recommends limitations in the number of Congressional directories printed, as well as restrictions in the printing of private claims bills, voluminous reports on field operations from sundry bureaus of the government, and the general cutting down of documents which are printed by the thousands only to be circulated in small quantities. The elimination of embossed letterheads in the government service and the use of cheaper paper for the frankable matter sent out by the ton by Congress and the department are other economies suggested. The committee asserts that the various economies enumerated will amount to at least $850,000 per annum.

A WOMAN FOR OUR LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR.

Some of the women of California, who are taking an active and commendable interest in public affairs, believe that the Republican party should nominate a woman for Lieutenant-Governor. They invite attention to the fact that through their enfranchisement women have become participants in the political affairs of the State on an equal relationship with men, and from that basis submit that they are fairly entitled to representation in the offices of the State.

The Times sees no insuperable objection to the position of the women, and looks with friendliness upon the proposal. Woman suffrage is established; women are participating as freely and rightfully as men in political activities. They are studying conditions, investigating and forming opinions on matters of government, and supporting their convictions in exactly the same manner and in approximately the same numbers as men. And perhaps it would be not only a graceful but a judicious advance on the part of the Republican party to nominate women for high office.

In this connection it should be remembered that a Republican Legislature made possible the enfranchisement of women in California. Though Gov. Johnson presumes to claim the credit for this acknowledgment of woman's cause, he knows, as all who are familiar with the history of that campaign know, that never once—though he was repeatedly urged to do so—did he publicly favor or encourage the efforts of the women in this matter. So that if the women are to be recognized, (and The Times knows of no conclusive reason why they should not be) as worthy of and entitled to hold State offices, it may be taken as particularly fitting that the Republican party should be the first to make this recognition and tender an office of decided importance to a woman.

It is conceded in a general way that the candidate for Governor will be chosen by the Republican party from Southern California. In that event the candidate for Lieutenant-Governor will probably be selected from the north, as would be equitable and satisfactory.

The objection has been made that the Senate, which is at present composed entirely of men, would be presided over by a woman, if one were elected Lieutenant-Governor. The Times sees no force in this objection, for the Senators are supposed to be gentlemen and would have no occasion to act otherwise. Also, it is not improbable that some Senatorial, as well as Assembly districts, may send women as representatives. There may be fatal objections to having a woman as Lieutenant-Governor, but The Times has not heard of them.

What are the constitutional provisions of the State of California relative to the office of Lieutenant-Governor? Section 15, Article V, of the State Constitution provides:

"A Lieutenant-Governor shall be elected at the same time and place and in the same manner as the Governor, and his term of office and qualifications shall be the same."

Section 3, Article V, prescribes the qualifications of the Governor as follows:

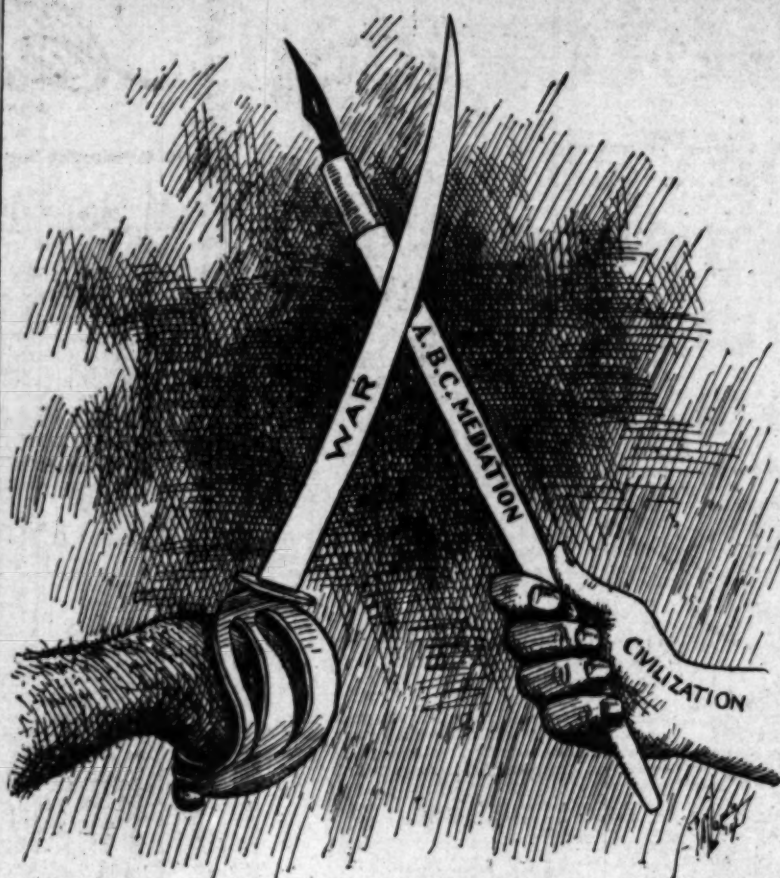

"No person shall be eligible to the office of Governor who has not been a citizen of the United States and a resident of this State five years next preceding his election and attained the age of twenty-five years at the time of such election."

The Constitution deliberately employs the word "person" instead of "man." As to the possessive pronoun "his," the courts have plainly held that its use in law does not discriminate against women—they have so ruled every time the question has been raised; it has been the determination of the courts that inasmuch as the franchise has been granted to woman in California she cannot be deprived of her office-holding rights by any little old possessive pronoun. "Citizen of the United States for five years"—what does that phrase mean? It clearly was intended to put up bars for aliens, not women. Some lawyers maintain that women are not "citizens of the United States" because the United States Constitution does not give them the right to vote. Other lawyers, equally able, declare that such a construction is strained and ask with good show of reason if a woman who has lived in the United States and under its laws all her life and has exercised all the functions of citizenship except voting shall be declared not a citizen of the United States? In brief the recent decisions of the courts have established the doctrine that old laws and constitutions must be interpreted in the light of new conditions—and that the fact that woman suffrage was unheard of when the legal phraseology of a bygone generation was penned must not interfere with rights and prerogatives conferred upon women by new statutes and conflicting changes in constitutions.

Since their enfranchisement women have displayed so much interest in political affairs, and have evinced such capability and discrimination, that even those who were honestly opposed to accepting them into the official arena have been glad to recede from their opposition. The assistance and influence of the women throughout the entire nation have been decidedly beneficial; they have shown themselves to be indefatigable and sincere in the interest of public welfare. Not only in political matters have they accomplished a great deal, but in the professions and businesses they have evinced unquestionable efficiency. There is scarcely a city, there is not a State, in which women have failed to attain deserved recognition for work well done that required remarkable ability, patience and judgment.

Recognizing that ability, and in view of the many distinct and varied achievements of women, why should not the State of California be the first in this nation to choose a woman for so important and honorable an office as that of Lieutenant-Governor?

Will the Axiom Prove True?

NEW SCHOOLS NEEDED.

As a barrier to continued growth and prosperity, one of the greatest conceivable calamities that could befall Los Angeles would be the defeat of the school bonds today.

In this most wonderful city of which we are wont to boast is to maintain the pace it has set—and it is—schools must be provided for the children who come. Schoolhouses cannot be built without money, and money for the building of schoolhouses can only be secured by the voting of bonds.

The patriotism that inspires the response to duty when a great principle is in jeopardy is the type demanded by voters today. It is too easy to reason that "everybody will vote for the bonds and I am too busy." That feeling has cost political parties many a defeat.

It must be kept in mind that to carry the bonds at least two votes must be cast in their favor to every one that is cast against them, and the lighter the vote the greater the danger of defeat.

With 10,000 children at the present time attending school in temporary buildings, and 2000 more attending but half time, it is too apparent to need argument what the situation will be at the close of another year—a total of 22,000 children for whom no adequate school accommodations are provided.

Los Angeles pride and enterprise will surely not stand for such an appalling and disgraceful condition.

The Board of Education has clearly outlined the needs that call for the expenditure of the $4,600,000 which is asked at the hands of its constituency—the whole people of the school district.

Two-thirds of the entire amount will go to providing additional facilities for the elementary schools in all parts of the district, including many new buildings, and additions to practically all the present ones; playgrounds, cooking and sewing schools and other healthful and educational conveniences for the younger children. The other third will be expended in the construction of high schools in three outlying populous sections of the city, yet giving ideal life to students away from the hum of trade and distractions of traffic. These three "peoples' colleges" have been desired locally since the early days of the Park-Garza district, South Park district and the mid-west district at First and Vermont, the latter being the only site owned by the city. This plan so admirably and fairly completes the circle of high schools surrounding the city that it has been received with universal expressions of approval.

THE VULTURES OF UNION LABOR.
 All fair-minded men know that the war in Colorado, which has appalled the country, was due to the union labor champions of violence, the vultures who feed on deluded and ignorant workingmen. Newspapers in Los Angeles which pander to the mob have joined with anarchists and agitators in other parts of the country in seeking to mislead the general public into the belief that the struggle in Colorado is a "Rockefeller war." Decent newspapers which have done their duty to the people by proving that the strike leaders are the men responsible for the turmoil have been excoriated by the misleaders of public opinion for telling the truth. That truth has been well and tersely stated by the New York Sun, always a champion of liberty, which says:

"The present situation in Colorado is the direct outcome of the pernicious activity of professional labor agitators, and the Democratic party, as well as the Department of Labor, are seriously to blame in the matter, for they are standing in with organized labor irrespective of considerations of justice and from purely political motives."

The real root of all the trouble, as the Sun goes on to point out, is that the unions want to run the mines not in the interest of the actual workers on the spot, nor for the interest of the district, nor of the State, "but simply for the money there is in it for the union." That money is obtained by bleeding the miners. It has been proven beyond the shadow of a doubt that the unionite leaders provoked the conflict in Colorado in an effort to secure the recognition of unionism. The Colorado Fuel and Iron Company voluntarily granted a 10 per cent increase in wages last year. One year and six months before the strike it advised the miners to employ their own checkweighmen. The eight-hour day was established by the company, unsolicited, as far back as March 1, 1913. In other words, long before the strike, the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company provided for its employees the very things for which the union was ostensibly contending.

Strenuously as the union leaders strove to hide it, the fact remains that they called the strike and maliciously precipitated armed warfare solely for the purpose of gaining money by having the company yield to the union. If this were done the labor leaders could compel every worker to pay an entrance fee of $10 to join the union and $1 per month as dues, and also could add to their coffers by inflicting fines on the workers. They even went so far as to demand that the employers deduct the fines from the wages of the workers and pay them over to the union.

The Chicago Tribune calls upon labor to repudiate its tyrants. It declares that not only the brutality of the leaders in Colorado, but their folly should be considered by union labor and whenever they rise they and their methods should be openly, honestly and energetically condemned. The New York Sun hits the nail on the head when it observes that "this kind of labor tyranny is going to ruin the State if it is not checked." It recalls that some years ago, as a result of the very kind of thing which recently has stained Colorado with blood, Denver lost the great Grant smelting plant which gave employment to thousands. All that is now left of it is the $50,000 chimney which stands as a significant monument of what happens when organized labor insists upon running the business of the State and the business of the employers, as well as its own business.

The fair position which the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company holds toward labor was admirably set forth by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., when he said: "We do not question the right of any workmen freely to associate themselves in unions for the furtherance of their common and legitimate interests, but we do assert the equal rights of an individual to work independently of a union if he so elects. We are contending against the rights of unions to impose themselves upon an industry by force, by assault and murder, and not against the right of men to organize for their mutual benefit." Can anything be fairer than that?

Sensational one-cent newspapers, have carefully refrained from giving their readers the facts as outlined by the mine owners. They have endeavored to create a public opinion against the operators by maliciously accusing them of being responsible for the disorders, whereas they know full well that the shoe is on the other foot and that the persistent appeals to violence made by the labor leaders led to the civil war which disgraced Colorado. Says the Chicago Tribune manfully:

"In the United States there is no excuse for resorts to assassinations and civil warfare. Year by year the wage-earner finds more consideration for his needs and gains in influence. The whole sentiment of the times is in his favor. Only when the leaders repudiate the very peace and orderly processes which the wage earner requires for his own defense and advancement does this sentiment turn against him and his cause declines."

The cause of union labor certainly has lost ground because of the Colorado madness. Poor, ignorant, mostly foreign miners, were inflamed to riot and bloodshed by labor union leaders, greedy to gain the hard-won wages of those workers by insisting that they be compelled to join a union if they could hope for no material benefit as all their fair demands had already been granted. Labor unions dominated by men who are seeking illegitimate personal gain are as great a curse as the walking delegates themselves. All honest workingmen should unite to put them down.

MOTHER AND HER DAY.

Which is Responsible for the Other, But-dette Asks.

Well, "Mother Day" has come and gone. She has been remembered for the year 1914, A.D. I have frequently been touched by a very suggestive reminder I have seen painted on the walls of Salvation Army chapels, welfare halls in the slums and similar places where the "down-and-out" congregate in the hope of coffee and rolls and the certainty of texts and sandwiches, the tender suggestion—

"Write to Your Mother."

This is most excellent preaching, and I doubt not often results in good. But somehow, a very like text, applied nationwide to a whole people one day in the year, "Think of your mother," affects me very differently. It does not impress me very pleasantly. I do not like to think of any man or woman whom I claim as a friend being such a creature as must be reminded annually that he has a mother to whom he owes a certain amount of affection.

It runs along in the line of other admonitions that thrust themselves upon these days of machine morality and ethics. It belongs with "Go-to-church-Sunday." That comes once a year. In the old-fashioned days it was taught that every Sunday was instituted for church-going. Once a year wasn't enough. It is now recognized as being plenty. That is why so many people, forgetting all about it, do not go even that once. A man who thinks of his mother once a year and wears a white carnation that his love for her may be known of men, isn't apt to think of her very tenderly that once.

Fodder and Assimilation.

It was thousands of years ago when the experiment of fattening pigs on pearls was first tried. It seems to have been a failure. Judging from a comment made thereon by one of the greatest and wisest teachers in the world some two thousand years since, a comment which has been many times repeated commendably by many philosophers and teachers down to this day. Precious as pearls are known to be, it is acknowledged by the best judges of pearls and pork, that the plain forest acorns and the forest peas of the Sulu archipelago as producers of meat pork. I was a boy about ten years old when I saw, for the first time, an itinerant evangelist painting "Prepare to meet thy God" on the rocks and fences of "peoria county, Illinois." It was alternated with "Watch and pray." That was more than fifty anadominis ago. But I have never met man or woman, from that day to this, who was led to prayerful habits by those painted injunctions, although they have been multiplied across the continent by thousands.

Getting Used to It.

But then, there may have been. I don't know everything that goes on in the world. The recruit has to walk by the sergeant's monotonous "left, left," a long time before his feet learn to step without the cadence of the voice or the clam of the drum. A tract entitled "The Bruised Reel" was read by a man of whom you never heard, and it made him a Christian. Richard Baxter wrote one called "A Call to the 'Peopled'." and a better handed copy of it in at the door of Philip Doddridge, and that made him a Christian. Then he wrote a tract, "Rise and Progress of Religion in the Soul," and that was the salvation of a man named Wilberforce, who in his turn wrote one called "The Practical View of Christianity," which inspired Leigh Richmond and Thomas Chalmers. Richmond wrote "The Dairymen's Daughter," which has been blessed to no man can tell how many thousand souls; among them Dr. George Duffield of Bloomfield, N. J., known to many, many of you who read this paper and thousands of others. One of Chalmers' greatest pupils was Dr. Horatio Bonar, of whom you all know. So you see these casual finger boards which possibly you have never given a glance at, have set and kept men on the straight path. "How far that little candle throws his beams! So shines a good deed in a naughty world."

The good seed sown in good ground germinates very slowly—even as slowly as the seed of the farces scattered by the evil one. The husbandman must wait for both to come to good or evil harvest before they are separated. I can't see it I go to and fro after that mother's state any better now than it was a week ago. But I do know that it is far more comfortable than it was a hundred years ago; better still than it was two hundred years gone by, and immeasurably better than it was a thousand years since. And in spite of all my growling about mechanical preaching and spasmodic reform, it is the thought of Mother's Day and kindred teaching that has wrought all the improvement. "Mother's Day" as at present observed will not last a great while. It has not been so very long since the carnation was sacred to Saint McKinley. But we got so we never remembered "McKinley's day" until the day after, and the first thing we saw Mother's Day came along, snatched away the carnation and pinned it upon her own blessed breast. But while we did remember it, McKinley's day taught us to reverse the character of a good and patriotic man. And once a year, for many years I hope, the carnation will stand for the ideal character of a good and pure and perfect woman.

The Ideal Woman.

And by and by "Mother's Day" will exalt the ideal woman—anybody's mother; a human being created out of the best part of man to be a help-meet for him, wrought alab, of the same dust, bone of his bone and flesh of his flesh. The carnation will fade, but the woman will abide. Good and bad mothers and bad; the bad a little worse than the worst fathers, and the good much better than the best. For Rebekah, when a wicked bride of the prayer book, was a wicked mother, who taught her son to lie to his old father and to swindle him; Herodias was one of the wickedest mothers that ever lived. She taught her daughter cruelty such as the younger woman had never dreamed of—think of a mother hating into her daughter's ear, "Tell him to give you the head of John the Baptist—be the purest, holiest man on earth." Oh, simply being a mother doesn't make a woman good. There are spinsters who are more motherly than plenty of great-grandmothers. Jessebel is not an ideal mother, although some of Ahab's seven sons in Samaria must have been her children. You ever heard of a man naming his daughter Jessebel? As well think of a woman naming her son Jesus Isacariot. There have been, and there are, mothers who have hated their children, and who have trained their sons to crime and their daughters to shame. Better than carnation day is a shrine to motherhood builded in the heart of childhood, and nobody can build one so pure and sweet as the mother herself.

LETTERS TO "THE TIMES."

LOS ANGELES, May 12.—(To the Editor of The Times) I have been reading with interest the many-sidedness of the strike conditions in Colorado, and as one who has spent many months in the coal fields, starting as a coal-keeper and time man and working up to superintendent, I think I am in a position to make a few words with actual experience to face the situation.

I was superintendent in a coal field, and was about 200 ovens, and employed about 150 men in the mines. I was a quiet, happy, contented man, and had a quiet, happy, contented money-earning little village. There were about 50 Americans, 100 Italian and 100 Slovaks and the balance Polish and Hungarian.

We were separated from any town of any size and had our own houses, and the men were making a good wage. The miners averaging $10.00 a week. We had a company store and two other stores. The men had a good time, and all three had a good time. The men were making a good wage. The miners averaging $10.00 a week. We had a company store and two other stores. The men had a good time, and all three had a good time.

Some of the boys became a little bit happy and went to bed. The men were making a good wage. The miners averaging $10.00 a week. We had a company store and two other stores. The men had a good time, and all three had a good time.

They were playing for the close of the ship of the world in St. Petersburg.

CONDUCT FRAUD THROUGH MAIL

TRIAL IN DISTRICT COURT WHICH PROSECUTORS FEAR SERIOUS CHARGE.

The trial of Clarence P. and P. Bowers, operating some time under the name of the C. P. Bowers Company, charged with conducting fraud through the mails, began today in District Court, presided over by Judge Welborn, and a jury in the United States District Court, today.

It is charged that the defendants operated a fraud involving the sale of land, located on the Tule River near Tampico, Mex.

It is alleged that they disposed of 410 acres of land, and made sales of it at the rate of $100 an acre, $25 down, and $11 a month with the additional agreement that the purchasers could have their money returned if they were not satisfied, and that the company would return the land to the original owner, it being represented that the business was very lucrative.

It is asserted by the government that the company secured the land; that it was brought on a tract, the terms of which were carried out, and that the property was sold to the original owner, also asserted that the defendants cleaned up about $25,000 in the process. They deny any intent to defraud, and declare that the testimony of the witnesses will establish the fact that they owned the land at the time the sales were made.

The trial will continue tomorrow, and the case is expected to run for a period of 100-150 days.

TIGERS AGAIN LICK BEAVERS.

Hayes Bounces Bliss and Elliott Goes In.

"Rowdy" Then Bunts Up Game With Hot Single.

Higginbotham Suffers from Punk Support.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

Beating "Erv" Higginbotham, which has grown to be the leading open-air diversion of this section, was yesterday indulged in by the Tigers. It was another thriller, highly charged with slip and topped off with another whale of a finish, Hogan's men making the eighth inning epochal by wrenching the game from Higg, turning what had been up to that time a 3 to 2 lead for Portland into a 5 to 3 win for the Tigermans.

Decaniers, who relieved Kieffer, the original game-starter, at the beginning of the eighth, held the Beavers in a subdued state in the two final rounds.

ONE CHANCE.

At the present writing there seems to be just one chance for McCredie to beat out the Tigers for the pennant. That is to fire his ball club, and sign up the Oregon State militia. Again it was the punch that won, "Rowdy" Elliott driving in the winning run with a "hazymaker" to the eighth. Elliott got into the game unexpectedly. The lovable Mr. Hayes bounced Bliss out of the game for gabbling, just before it was his time to bat in the eighth. Elliott was rushed in to plug the hole, but he plugged the ball.

This was Elliott's first appearance since he broke his hand. He feared that "Rowdy" never would be able to grasp a bat again. Perish the thought!

ROWDY VALUABLE.

There is something peculiar about Elliott. The tender the situation, the tender he hits. Some men are regular little devils with the bat when a hit doesn't stand for anything, and then mildly curl up their toes when there is much to be accomplished. Not so with our peerless "Rowdy."

After a bad getaway, when the Tigers tore into him for three runs, Higginbotham anchored himself and pitched shutout ball for six innings. Therefore, with his club one run to the good, he faced the eighth with considerable confidence.

This was slightly shattered by McKean, when Paul, the first man up, bounced a double off Dad's patent lawn-mower way over in the right-hand corner of the meadow. This was Paul's first hit for two days. He had been saving it for this exact occasion. Higginbotham then performed the rather remarkable feat of fanning Barryless.

Lou Litchel, the "black hand" of the Venice club, here stabbed Art Kores in the solar plexus with a sharp, still-like grounder. The ball started away to the bleachers, and Melton took third.

BLISS IN BAD.

McDonnell drove to the wounded Kores. Art heaved somewhat wildly, but not too much for Derrick to catch the ball. Freddie, however, dropped it when McDonnell bumped into him like a runaway truck. Litchel mischievously tried to go from first to third on the sh-ror, but was apprehended. Derrick to Kores. Bliss rushed out and engaged Mr. Hayes in rapid conversation. Either Jack didn't like the decision at third, or he was discussing the weather, although it is believed that he was talking on a much warmer subject.

Hayes wasn't feeling talkative, and advised Jack to cut the chirping. He

FEDERAL LEAGUE DECISION TODAY.

BALL PLAYERS MAY JUMP IF COURT INVALIDATES THE CONTRACT.

(BY A. F. NIGHT WIRE.)

CHICAGO, May 13.—Hearing on the Federal League's motion to dissolve the Cincinnati Nationals' injunction against Pitcher Johnson is scheduled for the Superior Court tomorrow and on its outcome, according to President Gilmore, depend the futures of a number of ball players.

Gilmore, who returned from the East today, said that if the court declines to uphold the Cincinnati-Johnson contract on the ground that the reserve rule, or the ten-day clause, were illegal, several ball players who signed similar contracts would find their way clear to joining the "out-law" league.

HARRY LORD, SOX CAPTAIN, QUILTS.

FEELING HIMSELF SLIPPING, VETERAN INFILDER GOES HOME.

(BY A. F. NIGHT WIRE.)

CHICAGO, May 13.—Harry Lord, the veteran third baseman and captain of the Chicago Americans, has quit baseball because "he felt himself slipping," according to a dispatch from Washington received here today. Leaving word with another player for Manager Callahan saying he was disgusted with his own poor playing, Lord left the team in Washington and boarded a train for his home in Maine today.

Manager Callahan has decided to make Shortstop Weaver the captain of the club, putting Alcock on third base and Blackburn back at second, according to the dispatch.

Lord came to the Chicago club from Boston in 1910, Second Baseman McConnell coming with him in exchange for two Chicago infielders.

STANFORD WON'T ABANDON RUGBY.

INTERFERENCE BARRED BY A FACULTY RULING; PUTS BAN ON OLD GAME.

(BY A. F. NIGHT WIRE.)

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, May 13.—That Stanford will not abandon Rugby and if the University of California returns to the American game there will be no more intercollegiate football matches between the two universities, was the gist of statements made by athletic authorities here yesterday.

"Stanford will not give up the English game," said Dr. Frank Angell, chairman of the faculty committee on Athletics, "because of a faculty ruling which puts the ban on any sport which allows 'interference' in play. That ruling strikes the old game out of existence as far as Stanford is concerned. Rugby has a great advantage over the American game, in that it draws 200 candidates to the practice field, as opposed to the maximum of fifty students tried out before the old game was discarded in 1906. The same proportionate increase also was noted at Berkeley."

William H. Maloney, trainer of the varsity team, and Captain-Elect Garvin of the Rugby squad, agreed with Dr. Angell that Stanford would never go back to the old game.

SWEEPING CHANGES IN RUGBY RULES ADVOCATED.

High School Coaches and Officials to Pass on New Laws Calculated to Make the Game More Open and Faster—Would Have Two Officials and Remove Athletes for Rough Play.

IMPORTANT Changes in Rugby rules urged by coaches of city high schools.

Two officials with power to act.

A rule making it illegal for any player to pass an imaginary line drawn through the center of the scrum, until the ball has been touched by an opposing player. A free kick being awarded for each offense.

Any player using undue roughness will be immediately put out of the game and a free kick awarded to the opposing side.

Three changes in the present Rugby game and make it much faster and cleaner.

The rule forcing a player off the field for undue roughness is also likely to pass sanction. The referee will warn the players before the game about tripping, shoving, slugging and tackling a man without the ball. The first offense in the game will be sufficient for dismissal from play without further warning. This is a good move and badly needed in Rugby.

The third proposed rule is so radical and will make such a sweeping change in the style of play that it is sure to bring up a lot of warm discussion before passing. According to the interpretation given by one of the

CAPTAIN CHEAPE TO JOIN ENGLISH POLO INVADERS.

BRITAIN'S BEST MAN.

(BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.)

LONDON, May 13.—Capt. Leslie St. C. Cheape agreed today to join the British team to compete for the international polo cup. He will accompany the other members to the United States. The team will be as follows:

Maj. P. W. Barrett, Capt. Leslie St. C. Cheape, Capt. H. A. Tomkinson and Maj. J. Y. D. Bingham, with Maj. Matthew Lannowe as spare man.

The team was selected at a meeting of the general committee of the Hurlingham Club.

Walter Buckmaster's polo team today defeated the British representative team by eight goals to four in a practice game at Hurlingham. Capt. Cheape played back for Baron Wimborne's four.

Lord Wimborne's secretary said tonight that advantage would not be taken of the American polo association's sportsmanlike offer to postpone the contest for two weeks, as arrangements had already been made for the shipping of the ponies on the Minneapolis on Saturday next and the sailing of the team on the Carmania May 23.

The decisive defeat of Lord Wimborne's team by Capt. Buckmaster's and the Hurlingham Club committee the weakness displayed by Tomkinson and Bingham, and the result has shown the need of the challenging team getting as much practice as possible before sailing.

Three practice matches will be played at Hurlingham on the 16th, 18th, and 20th. As the ponies will then be on shipboard, an appeal has been issued, in which it is stated:

"Too great importance cannot be attached to these matches in bringing the players together for practice, and the Hurlingham Club committee appeals to players to lend their ponies to mount the team for these three matches, and reminds them that by so doing they will not only render invaluable assistance to Lord Wimborne and his team, but their generosity will also contribute in great measure to our possible success in the international matches."

MISS TAYLOR
INCOMPARABLE.*Morocco's Reply to What I
Said Yesterday.*Alice Eiz Shocks Us With More Clothes.*Plans of Some of Our Old Stock Friends.

BY GARDNER BRADFORD.

Ouch! Gee what a wallop, right between the eyes, and from Oliver Morocco, who usually does things with a punch, anyway. Of course, it was a verbal slugging he handed me, but telling just the same. I have been taking the count for several hours.

And all on account of that statement I made about Peggy O'Neill, and that, perforce, seeing she was coming to the Majestic in two weeks. Morocco had to say she was as good, or maybe better than Laurette Taylor.

Of course, I intimated that none of us believed it, leastwise he, but retraction he demands, waives his hands of anything even approaching the remark, and so please understand that this is a retraction of the statement that Peggy O'Neill is as good as Laurette Taylor. He leaves that for me to say when I see her, in case I think so.

It is not for me to tell how vainly he denied the statement, for I did not want to say that poor little Miss O'Neill wasn't anyone at all, which would be injustice.

As a matter of fact, it all came about through a discussion quite some time ago of the merits of the young actress whom Morocco was gathering into the fold, and Miss Taylor was already established as "paragon" on Broadway.

Of course, I might be mean and continue by saying this only goes to show that Morocco is doing the same thing we deplore in eastern managers, giving us number two names, instead of the real thing, and get back at him for hollering over my mistake, via that channel.

But I won't, for that, too, wouldn't be fair, for while Peggy O'Neill and her company may be technically No. 1 or maybe No. 2, for all I know, it is not, in this case, a question of grades. She is the little girl picked out of a thousand applicants and has scored heavily all along the line, and ought to prove mighty interesting and entertaining two weeks hence.

Now I leave it to you if that isn't some retraction. I feel so good. I think I might even retract what I said the other day about Billy Riker taking a vacation. Because with him a vacation really works.

Right now he is quite the brownish reddish thing that balls up and out at Washington Park. He told me yesterday that he plans to stick around the beach and the moonlight and August or September, when the new show is to be ready for him and Maudie.

Maudie, by the way, having caught the composing fever, is liable to spring forth with some comedy. Now you know she is a real descendant of Robert Fulton, who discovered a place for Rip Van Winkle to get a good sleep and maybe her opera is to be about Sir Robert, and all that crowd.

Think what a great song number she could evolve by having the chorus dressed as nineties, and the comedians hawking them over the California canals or something equally nifty.

Never for some time, at least, have I spotted player folk quite as much as the Burbank right now, where "The Dawn of Tomorrow" is in preparation. It looks like a grand show, but my, such tremendous parts.

Forest Stanley, Selma Paisley, Walter Catlett and Dixie Vinton are all working like the chain gang, for you must remember that "Stop Thief" isn't any clock either.

It sure will look natural to see Dick in the harness again, and I think the new show is just the thing for the "welcome to our city" stuff.

Right away I feel like panning the Orpheum, though maybe it is not to blame. Alice Eiz is wearing some kind of a black thingamajig instead of the little peekaboo affair she wore Monday, so now we don't see as much as we did, and, though we shouldn't, it is correspondingly disappointed.

And why? For in New York she didn't even wear the thingamajig. Has Alice gone into mourning, or does she want the audience to?

And speaking of the Orpheum, who should burst into view, in the Theodore Robert's act, but Florence Smythe, who was a mighty popular leading woman at the Belasco when John Blackwood was manager there.

Did you ever stop to figure what an old home week it would make, if the former Belasco and Burbank players all came here at once?

And while on the subject of these old timers, I hear that Bill Desmond, when he closes "The Bird of Paradise," goes to "more to be leading man of a stock company there.

Charlie Ruggles, now in "Help Wanted" in Chicago, is going to forego the pleasures of a vacation in Los Angeles, doing just what I predicted several months ago—a vaudeville tour with his wife, Adela Rowland.

They ought to do well, as well, in fact, as Percy Branson and Winnie Baldwin, but whether they will get as far as our Orpheum remains to be seen.

What a cinch for Robert Hilliard next week at the Mazon. A corking actor, a splendid play, and both the Majestic and Morocco dark.

Yes, "Mr. Aladdin" they affirm, closes this week and the next attraction at the Majestic will be "Fog" while "The Echo" closes Sunday night at the Morocco. Dick and Fulton start on their vacation, and after a week of rest for the over-taxed stage, "A Knight for a Day" takes possession.

I wonder how many of you realize that Orville Stamm, now at the Empress, is a local boy. Got his training under Al Trelor at L.A.C.C. I think, and his first engagement at the Orpheum. And he has been making good right along.

Robert Hilliard

CALIFORNIA TENNIS MEN WILL INVADE EAST AGAIN.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)

SAN FRANCISCO, May 13.—California tennis experts are beginning to lay plans for this year's invasion of the East, and it is now certain that another formidable team will be sent across the Rocky Mountains.

National Champion Maurice E. McLoughlin, while he has not definitely outlined his course, will leave for the East toward the middle of June. It is his present determination to do little tournament work in advance of the Davis Cup international challenge match and the Newport championships. The young premier believes that in previous years he has loaded himself with too much tournament play, with the result that he has not always been at his best in crucial matches.

Just what Thomas C. Bundy, joint holder with McLoughlin of the national doubles title, will do, is problematical, but Bundy hopes so to shape his affairs as to be able to take at least, and he is looked upon as a Davis Cup team possibility also.

Miss Mary Browne, national women's champion, will try to retain the laurels she has held for the last two years.

William M. Johnston, the 35-year-old holder of the Longwood and New York State titles, will defend his honors in his present determination to do little tournament work in advance of the Davis Cup international challenge match and the Newport championships.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.
The Harbor Commission yesterday advertised for bids on furnishing one locomotive, and possibly two, and for railroad steel for the municipal road at the harbor. It has a large amount of construction material on hand for the first unit of the municipal terminal.

A witness refused to allow his papers to be submitted as evidence yesterday on the ground that his private business would be disclosed and Judge Myers upheld him.

At the City Hall.

ACTIVITIES ON A HARBOR RAILWAY.

BOARD IS ASSEMBLING MUCH CONSTRUCTION MATERIAL.

Has About Ten Thousand Ties on Hand and Is Advertising for Bids on Other Supplies, Including Locomotive and Steel Rails, for Use on Municipal Terminal.

Steps are well under way for the construction of municipally-owned railway facilities at the harbor that will be of great practical service in handling not only development work but harbor traffic, and will eventually become part of the great harbor terminal, the foundations of which have already been laid.

Yesterday the Harbor Commission authorized the advertisement for bids for a twenty-ton locomotive, with option to purchase a second of the same type. It also called for bids for furnishing 1000 feet of fifty-six-pound steel rails, and will open these bids on May 22.

The commission now has on hand a large amount of construction material that will be used in temporary tracks, etc., for expediting the development work, including the raising of Timm's Point and the reclamation of the city's 14-acre tract of submerged land in the outer harbor. The commission has also placed orders for more than a mile and a half of railroad track, and the material for this will be arriving at the harbor within a short time.

Between 3000 and 4000 railroad ties are lying on the wharves and there are on hand 15,000 feet of seventy-five-pound rails, ready to be used in the construction of the municipal terminal's first unit. The commission also has on hand approximately 1,500,000 feet of lumber for wharves, sheds and railroad construction, and it already has constructed more than 1000 feet of railway to serve the municipal wharves on the Mormon Island channel.

OFFICIAL JUNKET.

TRIP TO OWENS VALLEY.

A party composed of members of the Public Service Commission, Chief Engineer Mulholland, Electric Engineer Scattergood, Special Counsel Mathews and Councilmen Betkowski, Conwell, Roberts and Wheeler, will leave Sunday evening for an inspection trip along the aqueduct. They will be absent until Friday evening.

They will go directly to Laws and on Monday will inspect the Log Valley reservoir site, returning to Bishop that evening. On Tuesday they will visit the Division Creek power-house and the aqueduct, intervening between the intake of the Log Valley power plant and the Cottonwood power plant and the Fairmount power plant. The following day they will inspect some of the mountain work through Grapevine and Jawbone divisions, will inspect the cement plant at Monolith and then reach the Fairmount reservoir, after which they will go through the San Francisco Canyon and inspect the power-house and tunnels of plant No. 1. The party will then go to Dry Canyon and finish its inspection at the San Fernando reservoir.

TUNNELS' OUTLOOK.

PROPERTY OWNERS' OFFER.

Councilman Snowden yesterday expressed confidence that the hurry over the tunnel situation will pass away. Developments of the day were encouraging, as property owners on the hill claimed for damages if the east portal of the Second-street tunnel is placed at Clay street.

Snowden said yesterday that he believed that the ordinance of intention for the Second-street tunnel should be adopted as soon as possible by the Council, and that the subject of a roadway between Hill and Olive streets can be settled later.

Municipal Notes.

The Chief of Police has reported to the commission that there will probably be a deficit of $9500 in the department at the end of this fiscal year, occasioned by the increased price for fuelstuffs and extraordinary automobile and motorcycle repairs. He asks for a transfer of funds from salary account and an appropriation of $2000 to meet this probable deficit. The commission has approved the request.

Tenants of the Temple Block, which is city property, have appealed to the Board of Public Works for a general overhauling of the building, declaring that it has become so dilapidated that it is hard to hold patrons there.

The Council yesterday formally abandoned the proceedings for opening San Pedro street, from Aliso street to the Plaza, the property owners within the proposed assessment district having paid in the money for costs already accrued.

Councilman Wheeler yesterday made a plea before the Council for an exemption from the bucksters' license fees of producers of flowers and nursery stock who use the municipal markets. This brought about a discussion of the markets and the expression from several of the Councilmen that fruit and vegetables are offered for sale at the municipal markets that should be destroyed. It is asserted that bucksters go to other markets, buy inferior and damaged produce, and then sell it at the municipal markets.

WOMAN ACQUITTED.

In the United States District Court yesterday a jury acquitted Daisy D. Grant of Glendale of a charge of having used the mails for an illegal purpose. The case was worked up by a post-office inspectors by means of a decoy letter.

BUSBY IS BUSTED.

Walter E. Busby, a merchant doing business at No. 1500 West Jefferson street, filed a petition in bankruptcy in the United States District Court yesterday. His liabilities amount to $4423.75, of which $423.75 are unsecured; his assets are scheduled at $2225.65.

At the Courthouse.
VERBAL CLASH OVER PAPERS.

WITNESS REFUSES TO ALLOW DOCUMENTS TO BE SEEN.

Assume That His Private Business Would Be Disclosed and the Court Holds That the Ground Is Well Taken and He Need Not Produce Them in Evidence.

The trial of the suit of Vida B. Baer against Dr. James H. Edmonds and the Edmonds Midway Oil Company to set aside more than a half a million shares of stock turned over to him for property alleged to be worth less than half the value of the stock, was stirred yesterday by verbal pyrotechnics growing out of the subpoenaing of H. Jevne, a witness for Mrs. Baer, to produce papers of interest to the defense.

Jevne appeared with correspondence relating to the affairs of the oil company, and was instructed by Justice Crump, attorney for Mrs. Baer, not to produce them, Crump acting as his counsel.

Attorney Lawler argued strenuously for the production of the correspondence, and Attorney Crump read a long opinion which bore on the point that to produce the papers would be to expose the witness's private affairs. Judge Myers, who is trying the important suit, ruled that the court was not justified in making an order.

"I am not asking for an order," said Lawler. "I am asking for correspondence relating to the stock of the oil company."

"That is open to the same objection," replied the court.

Attorney Ashburn later asked that it be made a part of the record that the instruction of Crump to Jevne was assignment of misconduct. Crump took the request of Lawler and stated Jevne had telephoned him to protect him from the delivery of the papers into the hands of the defendant's counsel. The subpoena duces tecum was made part of the record and the correspondence dispute died as an exhibit for identification. Then the clouds rolled away and the trial resumed.

DECREES DENIED.

BOTH PARTIES LECTURED.

William S. Farnell tried to get a divorce from his attractive moving picture actress wife, Margie. Then the trial is after a sensational trial before Judge Monroe, she lost yesterday. Farnell lost also on his cross-complaint.

The decrees were not denied by the court without a severe castigation. The alleged co-respondent, Miss Louise Zimmerman, she with the fancy garters, as a witness testified, proved an indignant witness because her husband had been attacked by her friend, Margie.

Judge Monroe told the Farnells that the neither was fit to have the custody of their child, and that the child was to be placed in the hands of the state.

SHARP QUESTION.

TESTIMONY QUESTIONED.

In summing up the case of F. H. Ford against Eva E. Anderson, Kate B. Anderson, the Los Angeles Development and Subdivision Company and others, involving an action to foreclose a mortgage, Judge Ford stated yesterday that he would not believe the testimony of George L. Journeymen, president of the development company, where there was any conflict in the evidence.

The court very pointedly stated that he had known of men being sent to the penitentiary on less evidence than that which had been introduced in the testimony against him in the case on trial. He gave judgment for Ford.

The action, it seems, had been brought to foreclose a mortgage securing a note for $300 and another for $1500, the latter purporting to have been an advance on a mortgage when the land was in the hands of the corporation. The corporation alleged there was no consideration and that there had been an oral trust.

Journeymen testified that the corporation had turned the land over to the party to whom it was made simply to make it appear to purchasers of land from his corporation that there was a large incumbrance against it than the $300 note. It also appeared from the testimony that the $1500 note was not bona fide and was merely for the purpose of convincing purchasers that there was an incumbrance.

Journeymen's signature to papers in escrow which called for the transfer of the land was not in the consideration for the sale of the German building.

He asserted that he had only signed the escrow papers as an accommodation for a friend who was going to give him a position as manager of the German building when he acquired title to the building.

TO ADOPT CHILD.

WIFE GETS A HOME.

Yvonne Isler came into the world at the County Hospital, April 2, 1913. Mrs. Frank Stoddard played fairy godmother, and the prospects are that when Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Livingston file their petition of adoption, Yvonne will become one of the proud beauties of the San Fernando Valley.

Yvonne, a pretty babe, lay cuddled in the arms of Mrs. Livingston yesterday as the court, preparatory to the adoption proceedings, declared her a dependent child. All the women in the courtroom gazed lovingly and some longingly at the pink cheeks and the curling lashes shading the brown eyes. Livingston is manager of the San Fernando Fruit Growers' Association.

PLEADS FOR DRINK.

"NOT A DROP," SAYS JUDGE.

Not being built on the lines of a camel, Hugh Brennan pleaded yesterday for just a drink or two when Judge Monroe ordered him not to touch a drop of liquor between then and Friday.

"Can't I have just one drink?" Brennan asked.

"Not a drop," repeated Judge Monroe. Brennan hung his head and walked out in a dejected manner. He is charged with having failed to provide for his minor child.

DOCTORS WIN.

MALPRACTICE NOT PROVED.

The $25,100 damage suit by G. S. Bosky against Dr. Walter Bremm and Dr. A. H. Zeller for alleged malpractice in connection with the death of her daughter, Josephine, 5 years old, was decided by a jury in Judge

Boyle's court yesterday.

Houses' court in favor of the defendant.

The suit originally included the health officer, but their motion for a non-suit was granted. Mrs. Bremm and Jenkins were sent to Mrs. Bosky's house by the health department to make a lumbar puncture on Josephine to determine whether she had infantile paralysis.

It appears, Dr. Bremm's child was suffering from the disease. Josephine subsequently died and Mrs. Bosky alleged that the child succumbed owing to the careless and negligent manner in which the puncture was made.

COURT PARAGRAPHS.
PROCEEDINGS IN BRIEF.

FIGHT OVER CHILD. After having charge of Rosa Michael since she was 3 years old, Miss Verne Shaw, a nurse, became attached to her and is fighting in the Juvenile Court for the right to keep her. She alleges that Rosa was abandoned and that she obtained her from the Children's Hospital. Rosa is now 6 years old. Mrs. Thomas Michael, the child's mother, denies she abandoned Rosa and opposes possession by the nurse. Judge Taft will consider the matter.

SLANDER SUIT. The Marshall and Willard families are at loggerheads. Mrs. Marshall alleged in a complaint filed yesterday asking $20,000 damages for slander, that Mrs. Frank Willard made certain statements reflecting on her good name. These statements, she alleges, are false and were made maliciously. The suit is against Mrs. Willard and her husband.

TROWN FROM MOVING CAR.
Timmer Instantly Killed When He Falls to Pavement and Fractures His Skull.

Walter Leaser, a timmer, living at No. 119 Rio street, was instantly killed last night when he attempted to board a moving street car at Melrose and Alexandria avenues. He wished to secure a seat on a returning street car and in order to reach the car before it arrived at the corner where many were waiting to board it, he jumped an outboard car.

When the car appeared, he jumped off the outboard car, and attempted to board the in-board car. He was thrown to the pavement, and his skull was fractured. He died almost instantly from his injuries.

Bond Election Today.

schools up to the high standard to which they have attained. I believe the people of this city will respond to the call of the children."

WHAT FOR.

Here are the uses to which the $4,000,000 school bonds will be put:

Three million dollars to be expended for elementary schools, $1,500,000 for high schools.

Build three new high schools and twenty-five new grammar schools.

Build additions to 126 old grammar schools.

Buy sites for the twenty-eight new buildings.

Buy additional ground for forty old schools.

Provide playgrounds for 35,000 children.

Establish aloyd and cookery-rooms in practically every large building in the city.

Make repairs to improve sanitary conditions and render buildings more nearly fireproof.

REASONS WHY.

The bonds should be voted: To secure new buildings and sites which can only be purchased with bond money.

To provide for 100,000 school children next year, if the increase in enrollment parallels that of last year, which equalled that of New York City.

To do away with half-day schools and the large number of bungalows which crowd the playgrounds and offer but poor accommodation to the 10,000 children, who are forced to attend them.

To prevent little children going long distances for aloyd and cookery lessons, and older girls and boys from being compelled to cross the city to attend high school.

To help enforce the compulsory attendance law which cannot be complied with without proper support of the night schools and truant schools.

Generally speaking, to provide proper facilities which tens of thousands of pupils now lack, or would soon lack.
